TWO INVESTIGATORS FOR CITY AND COUNTY EN- GAGE IN BATTLE

By Associated Press.
Houston, Texas, Nov. 15.—Chas. J. Woodman, city investigator of arson cases, was in a hospital here Monday recovering from bullet wounds in his chest and back received in a fight in a suburban cafe early Sunday. Claude H. Beverly, investigator for the district attorney, was charged with assault to murder in connection with the shooting.

Similar charges were filed against Woodman. Charges of simple assault, drunkenness and abusive language were filed against Frank D. Scotten, Jr., county tax assessor of El Paso county. All three were released on bond.

Scotten was in Houston attending the convention of tax assessors and collectors.

ITALIAN AVIATOR GOING AFTER ONLY RECORD NOW HELD BY UNITED STATES

By Associated Press.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 15.—Major Mario De Bernardi, Italian army flyer, who smashed all but one world record in winning the Schneider trophy race here Saturday, will try for that record Tuesday. His effort will be to carry back to Mussolini, whose spirit and plans dominated the Italian racers, the official world record for speed over a three-kilometer course.

This record is the only seaplane mark that America still holds. It was made by Lieutenant James H. Doolittle of the Army last year, and experts say there is little doubt that it will fall before the powerful Italian monoplane provided for the Schneider race by Italy's strenuous premier.

De Bernardi believes that he made 264 miles an hour over certain parts of the course Saturday and American airmen concede that he exceeded 260 while some believe he went even faster than his own estimate. If the seaplane sprint record is captured by Italy, the next step will be to take the pontoon, off the plane, substitute wheels and go out for new records.

Eleven workmen were brought to the surface in the mine cage four hours after the explosion, apparently none the worse for their experience.

First reports were that four miners were entombed but a check-up accounted for all but two. Rescue crews were searching for them and held out some hope they would be found alive.

When Jesse Fogle, mine foreman, staggered from the mine injured, he was heart sick, for far down in the dark recesses he had stood by helpless until his son, Walter, died.

His boy was not employed in the mine, but had been visiting his father. When the blast came Fogle and ten fellow workers fled before a cloud of smoke and gas. They dragged the boy with them, but before they succeeded in erecting a barricade the lad was overcome. The father covered the boy's head with a coat, hoping to keep out the deadly gas. He stood by until the lad died and then made his escape up the shaft.

A. E. Laiferty, deputy mine inspector, said he believed the three victims were killed by afterdamp, as the bodies bore no marks.

Additional rescuers were rushed into the workings when a crowd leader reported he had heard rapping from the section in which Thomas Robinson and J. E. Stifel were entombed. Rescuers believed the men were alive. They are trapped behind a wall of fire.

GAS EXPLOSION WEST VIRGINIA MINE EARLY HOUR MONDAY

THREE DEAD, TWO INJURED AND TWO STILL ENTOMBED IS RECORD

By Associated Press.

Moundsville, W. Va., Nov. 15.—Two miners and a boy met death, two others were seriously injured and two of their comrades were entombed by a gas explosion early today in the First Street mine of the Glendale Gas Company here.

Eleven workmen were brought to the surface in the mine cage four hours after the explosion, apparently none the worse for their experience.

First reports were that four miners were entombed but a check-up accounted for all but two. Rescue crews were searching for them and held out some hope they would be found alive.

DIFFERENCES OF OPINION DEVELOP ON GANG CONTROL

MAYOR OF HERRIN AND GOVERNOR NOT AGREED ON PROPER METHODS

By Associated Press.

Herrin, Ill., Nov. 15.—Attempts to determine the identity of gunmen who claimed another victim Saturday night occupied the time of Williamson county officials today, while Mayor Marshall McCormack and Governor Len Small continued at variance as to the best method of curbing the gang situation in this territory.

The latest victim was Claude Craig, 35, a coal miner, whose body was found yesterday near a road house in the outskirts of town operated by a man known as "Big Swede." Craig's body had been pierced by both buckshot and revolver bullets. County authorities lacking clues, expressed the opinion that he did not come to his death at the hands of either the Birger or Shelton gangs, for he had not been known to associate with either.

The difference of opinion developed after Mayor McCormack made public a letter to the governor in which he declared that the establishment of a military court was the only solution of the gang problem. The letter was directed to Governor Small before last Friday, when the governor failed to recommend military measures after a conference at Springfield with the Mayor and National Guard officials, but its contents previously had not been revealed by McCormack.

Mayor Says Gangs Control.

The mayor wrote: "The gangs have reached such proportions that no sheriff regardless of his efforts, can relieve the condition. The prosecution of these outlaws is equally impossible, as no citizen will produce evidence while these gangs are at large for fear of their own lives being taken and no prosecuting attorney could live who attempted it."

Governor Small in reply asserted that the people of Southern Illinois can not expect protection "until they are prepared to help give protection." He asserted that the murders here would have occurred regardless of the presence of troops, and that the service of National Guardsmen was not necessary unless civil authority had collapsed.

This condition, he said he believed, did not exist.

Hope for ultimate solution of the problem was visioned in the declaration of the governor that ninety-nine per cent of the people in Southern Illinois are law-abiding and the trouble makers come from elsewhere.

MEX GOVERNMENT ENEMIES ACTIVE FOR OVERTHROW CALLES

FEDERAL TROOPS HELD IN READINESS TO TAKE FIELD IMMEDIATELY

By Associated Press.

Mexico City, Nov. 15.—That enemies of the government are endeavoring to start a movement for the overthrow of Calles is evident from the newspapers which record activities of rebel and bandit groups in various parts of the country.

The war department asserts that the revolutionary outbreaks do not offer a military problem because the rebel groups are very small and lack unity of action. In a majority of cases the revolutionists are said to be bandits who are profiting by the opportunity offered them by the religious unrest again to become active.

The war department says it has the situation under control. Federal soldiers in motor lorries are patrolling the highways in zones where rebels are active. Passenger and freight trains are running under military escort, while troops are being held in readiness at various points along the railways to be rushed to places where rebels or bandits hold up trains.

IOWA FINANCIER, SPORTSMAN KILLED WIFE AND SUICIDED

ALSO PROBABLY FATALLY WOUNDED HIS SISTER- IN-LAW

By Associated Press.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 15.—John Keeline today shot and killed his wife and probably fatally wounded her sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Andreason. He then committed suicide.

The shooting took place at the Keeline home. Keeline is a member of one of the oldest and best known families in this city. He is known as a financier and sportsman and at one time was connected with the Council Bluffs Savings Bank of which he was a stockholder.

Mrs. Andreason had been staying at the Keeline home during the absence of Keeline on a business trip. Mrs. Andreason was shot in the shoulder. It is believed she will recover and be able to give some details of the tragedy.

Lying in a bed near the spot where Mrs. Keeline was shot neighbors found her two young babies. They were crying and laughing in strange contrast with their surroundings.

Members of the family had feared violence, they told police. Keeline, they stated, had been drinking for some time.

EFFORTS TO ESCAPE FROM POLICE LEADS TO DEATH OF SIX

THREE OTHERS RESCUED WHEN SMALL BOAT WAS OVERTURNED

By Associated Press.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 15.—A party aboard a house boat on the Mississippi river here ended in tragedy last night when six of the merry makers, attempting to escape from the law, were drowned, when a small duck boat sank.

Three other persons were rescued from the water and were recovering today at a hospital. Two bodies have been found. They were those of Michael Hogan, aged 25, and an unidentified woman.

Those others drowned were Charles Randall, commander of the house boat; Nick Becker and an unidentified man and an unidentified woman.

Mrs. Nick Becker, Gertrude Swanson, and George Lavalle, all of St. Paul, were rescued. The tragedy occurred when the house boat party tried to flee as two policemen appeared to respond to a call from a neighboring boat which reported that a drunken fight was in progress on the Randall craft.

RAIDS BEING MADE ON BARRICKS CIVIL GUARDS IN IRELAND

By Associated Press.

Dublin, Nov. 15.—Southern Ireland is deeply agitated over raids on the barracks of the Civil Guards, and belief is expressed in many quarters that they mark the inception of the new policy by the Republicans.

General O'Duffy, chief commissioner of the Civil Guards, was at Cavan on the Ulster border when news of the raids reached him. He immediately set out for Dublin by motor, arriving early today.

Instructions were sent to headquarters of the guards in each county to warn the outlying platoons of the situation.

A sergeant in charge of the barracks at St. Luke's, a residential district of Cork City, was shot dead by raiders, and another sergeant was shot at Holly Ford, Tipperary. There were other raids in County Cork at Rylane, Carrigrohilly, Toghther and Ballincurragh.

Several men were arrested today in connection with the raids, including George and Jack Plunkett, sons of Count Plunkett, Republican member of the Dail.

H. M. Madison, agricultural agent for the Southern Pacific Railroad was a visitor in the city today on business, and to meet with the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

F. I. Wheat of the Armour Fertilizer Works of New Orleans, La., was a visitor in the city today, being the guest of C. H. Deabler.

TWO HELD CHARGED AIDING SLAYER MAN AND WOMAN ESCAPE

BODY OF KILLER, WHO COM- MITTED SUICIDE, TAKEN TO SAN ANGELO

By Associated Press.

San Angelo, Texas, Nov. 15.—A mystery car that was heard to halt early Sunday morning before the house at Best, Texas, where W. L. Coates, slayer of George Hays and Miss Alva Beam, was found dead about noon Sunday, has protruded itself into the oil field excitement surrounding the triple tragedy.

Officials are seeking to learn the identity of the driver, while hearing is being had at Big Lake Monday morning for R. L. Baucross and a man named Tebay, who were held after the dance melee on charges of having abetted the escape of Coates.

The body of Coates was brought to San Angelo, where it is being held pending word from W. F. Coates of Pueblo, Colo.

Mystery is further deepened in that Coates was supposed to have had a large sum of money on his person. This has not been found and officers seek to establish where he hid himself between intervals of the double killing and his own suicide.

GOOD WHISKEY GETTING SCARCE ANDREWS STATES

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 15.—America's good whiskey has reached the vanishing point and a state of emergency requiring Congressional action was declared today by General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the dry forces.

He is preparing a measure to permit distilleries again to turn out their forbidden wares in order to insure a supply of medicinal liquor. Only a bare five year stock of about 15,000,000 gallons of medicinal whiskey is on hand, General Andrews said today, and if the supply is not to be exhausted, the distilleries must be opened immediately.

While details of this program have not yet been worked out, General Andrews plans to have the distilleries turn out two brands, probably rye and bourbon.

"TV" COBB

"Ty" Cobb about to retire? Can it be possible the "Peach" is through? Is it possible age has crept upon this perennially young man?

Why, we had come to look upon the immortal "Ty" as a creature of the same world with Peter Pan—a resident of that "Never Never Land" where our heroes are always young, where youth is eternal and old age is balked by the magic of the fairies.

To some of the fans who do not look upon themselves as old it seems but a day since Cobb flashed across the sporting pages as one of the greatest hitters, fastest runners and brainiest of baseball stars. And yet it seems we have always been reading about him—that he has been here for all time and ever will be the same invincible player we have known as manager and player for to these moons beyond number.

They say he has acquired a fortune, that he owns a number of large and well paying farms in Georgia, and that he is tired of the strenuous life of the big leagues, with their today and gone tomorrow schedule, with their days on dusty diamonds and their nights on cinder sleepers. They say he wants to be left alone to enjoy the fruits of his toil, and that he is his final decision his friends will wish him well. For it must be said of Cobb that he played the game as well as he knew how and that few men were his superiors. Many a man has approached Cobb in skill upon the diamond, but few of them have had the fine character, the force of mind and the magnetic personality of the man from Georgia. He was great in all phases of the sport and ought to be an inspiration to many a young and aspiring player.

But it is to be hoped that he can be induced to change his mind; that if he is tired of play he will consent to manage one of the teams in the big leagues, for his presence means much to the game; his example is sorely needed in a form of sport that depends solely upon the high character of its management and its high and clean standards of play to continue in favor with the fans.

THE COMMUNITY FOREST.

The town or community forest is no longer a theory, or is it merely an expedient successfully adopted in Europe under different economic conditions and standards of living. It is, writes Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association of Washington, in City Planning (Boston), a demonstrated American institution worthy of the most serious consideration for inclusion in any well-rounded community plan.

Allusion has been made to the community forest idea in Europe. There it had its inception, arising largely out of economic need, the pinch of timber poverty. The idea of a permanent local wood supply furnishing raw material, supplying employment and maintaining certain local industries was invoked so successfully in some instances that it virtually wiped out the burden of local taxation.

The original conception of the town forest in the United States was born of a similar economic parent, the timber poverty of the Northeastern States resulting from decades of prodigal exploitation. The idea, however, has progressed considerably beyond this thought and it is the direction of this progress that commends the community forest to the planner.

Properly planned and distributed recreational facilities are considered an essential feature of community life today. They may take the form of out-and-out playground, athletic fields public operated, conventional parks or parkways along a river bank or lake shore. All of these things, while highly essential are, nevertheless, artificial. The forest is not. Save where thinning is done in the interest of wise forestry practice, it is natural, and man has yet to improve on Nature.

As urban life has grown, wild life has gone. A community forest soon becomes a sanctuary. Mr. Pack points out, and there is more real human satisfaction in glimpsing a cardinal on a branch in the forest than in a zoo cage.

Forests, of course, are important for the protection of watersheds, the prevention of erosion and as buffers against the elements. The city of Pittsburg, Mass., claims the distinction of having officially set aside the first community forest in the United States. Sixty-five Massachusetts communities have followed. New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Ohio and Colorado are states where the idea has taken hold.

Experience has shown there are several means to the acquisition of a community forest at little or no cost to the community. Civilization has outlawed the poor farm in many instances and its acreage may be available. Local institutions of public character frequently have large acreage that can be made to serve. Land that has reverted to the community for the non-payment of taxes offers another excellent source of a community forest.

FROM ONE NUT TO ANOTHER

The editor has received a bag of very fine pecans attached to which was a card bearing the greeting—"From One Nut To Another—King Nut From San Saba." On the reverse side of the card is much information concerning soils, pecan culture and San Saba. Pecans and standing out in black letters is the name Miles W. Beck, Corsicana, Texas. It is surmised that Mr. Beck is officially representing King Nut and therefore being of this royal personage's retinue considers himself a nut and in presenting the pecans to the editor has bestowed upon the conductor of this column the royal order of the nut thereby forever more labeling him as a nut.

Regardless of the complications involved in this nut transaction the editor is the gainer by one bag of very fine pecans and wishes to express appreciation to the King of Nuts, the representative of the King and all the little nuts for this most acceptable gift. As a rule the pecan fancier brings a handful of very fine pecan specimens, lays them on the editor's desk, tells how many thousand trees he has and the pounds and pounds of pecans he will harvest and just about the time the editor is ready to reach over and sample one of the pecans the enthusiast scoops up the exhibit, places them safely in his pocket and moves on to the next audience leaving the editor only with wishes.

Again we thank you, Mr. Beck, may you live long and prosper and may you have seen a precedent that will bear fruit in the future.

KNOW TEXAS

Texas produces more than one-fifth of the natural gas gasoline made in the United States.

Texas has the largest natural gas well in the world.

Texas produces about one hundred billion cubic feet of natural gas a year which is about one-tenth of all the natural gas produced in the United States.

Texas now leads all states in the production of petroleum. California is second.

Texas farm crops and Texas manufactured products are each valued at approximately one billion dollars a year.

The financial committee raising funds for the presenting of the poultry show is meeting with good success and the show promises to be one of the outstanding events of the season. The show is scheduled to be staged December 16, 17, 18 and will be under the direction of the Navarro County Poultry Association.

The cool weather has put new life in business and further reminded us that Thanksgiving and Christmas are nearly here. Have you made out that Christmas shopping list?

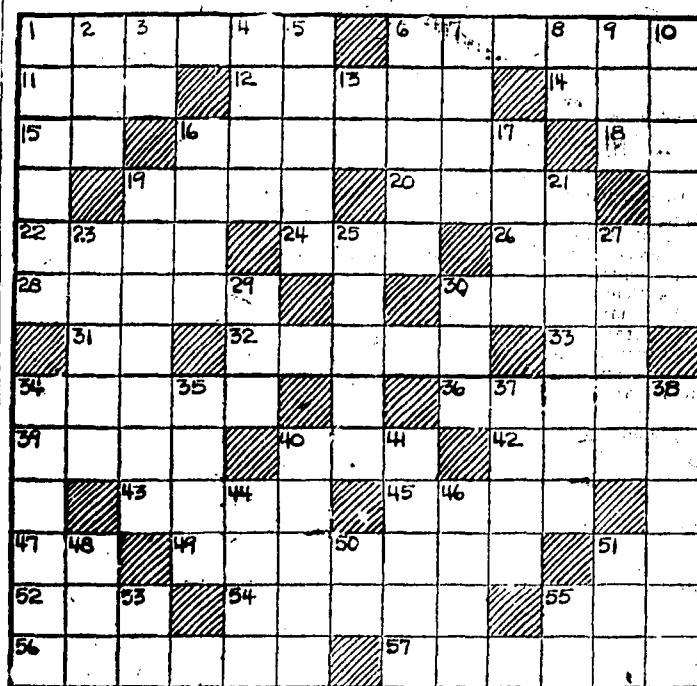

Not long now until holly and evergreens will be the chief items of decorations. Christmas is in the offing and the wise Corsicana shopper is already busy.

Thanksgiving—then Christmas—then the first of a new year and we all start over again.

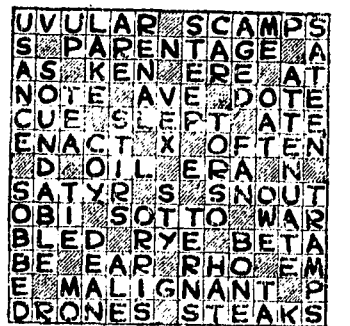

It may turn out that there were more people at Almo's Carmel cottage than attended the Hall-Mills shooting.

VETERAN MEMBER AMERICAN CONGRESS DIED EARLY FRIDAY

WAS PERHAPS MOST-NOTED

By Associated Press.
Danville, Ill., Nov. 12.—"Uncle" Joe Cannon died here today at the age of ninety.

In the rambling brick mansion he had built for his bride many years ago, he slowly ebbed away from the old statesman whose iron handed tactics in Congress won him the title of Czar of the House back in the days before his fall in 1910.

The same dominant spirit with which "Uncle Joe" ruled the House of Representatives so many years was summoned by him in his fight against old age. He continued his daily walks down town until physicians last May ordered him to replace it with an automobile ride, and in recent weeks his fading mind and body had not permitted him to leave his home.

The first indication that his condition was grave was given when his daughter, Helen, was summoned home from Europe hurriedly in September.

For the first time since he voted for Lincoln in 1860, Cannon failed to cast his ballot a week ago last Tuesday. He would have gone to the polls, he said, but a long period of rainy weather prevented him from registering.

On the stroke of twelve, noon "Uncle Joe" peacefully breathed his last. He simply slept away. He had been in a state of coma for about 10 hours before the end came.

It is probable funeral services will be held early next week. Burial will be in this city.

Time scarcely had touched with silver the thin locks of Joseph Gurney Cannon years ago, and the nation had rechristened him "Uncle Joe." And under that title, confirmed by millions who never saw him, yet knew every line of his worn face and every whimsical trait of his intense personality, "Uncle Joe" came at last to end his career as oldest statesman of the nation; the man of longest service in the Congress; the object of honors among his colleagues that took no thought of party or political differences.

In the dusty files of the Congressional Record near the door of a living room at this man's great service. At his death in 1873 when first he came out of Illinois to take his seat in the House, even then a picturesque, fire-eating political gladiator to whom the uproar of a debate and the tense moments in committee were the breath of life. The following pages show day by day how the hot blood of youth drove him into every fray, his tongue jabbing out at his opponents, his quick mind formulating at call the instant expedients that are the weapons of political combat. Month by month he climbed toward leadership, growing more knowing as each session brought its new conflicts, hardening with time into the forceful, relentless champion of his party, until that day when the gavel was placed in his hands and he mounted the Speaker's rostrum as master of the House to rule alone for four years as few men before him had ruled that body.

"Uncle Joe" was then a veteran and in the heyday of his power. Around him gathered a host of tales some true, some false, but all picturesque, and through the news columns and cartoons, his personality had been stamped indelibly on the minds of men all over the land.

Yet great as his place and power had grown, great too was his fall when the House in 1910 revolted against his Czar-like rule and stripped him of his power through a combination of insurgents with his own party and the democratic minority. Even then, however, when the battle in the House reached a pitch of excitement, that swept every other happening in the world into the background for all Americans, "Uncle Joe" fighting with grim courage to the last, was to know something of the feeling men would have for him later. The triumphant rebels of the House refused to take the last step and oust him from the speakership. Content with stripping the post of its power, they voted to hold him still in place.

In the political deluge that fell upon his party two years later "Uncle Joe" failed of re-election for the second time in his national career. Once before he had practiced law in Danville after his defeat for Congress. When he came back again at the next election age had begun to cool his ardor. He sat many days without stirring in debate and it was only in flashes that his old fire showed when he took the floor.

But never to the last was he in doubt as to the hearing the House would give him, never did he fail of a full audience among his colleagues and of deep interest in his remarks.

Born in a little Quaker settlement near Guilford, N. C., May 7, 1836, and named for Joseph Gurney, a famous Quaker, Mr. Cannon often remarked that he seemed to have drifted away from the Quakers and habits of the pious whom Gurney led. For he was very rough and tumble fighter. On the floor he fought whirling arms and contorted faces a body to drive home his make a complete circle on his heel. "Uncle Joe" smoked incessantly a cigar tilted sharply upward toward his hat brim, and cartoonists never failed to draw him that way. One of the first acts of Cannon after he quit the arena of public life and went home to Danville, Ill., was to buy a private residence, a place to which he would live to attend services in the office.

In the broad and rambling brown-stone mansion which Uncle Joe built for his bride many years before, the veteran lived quietly with his two daughters. Most every day, donning his black, fedora and clenching between his teeth the cigar which came with him to fame, he walked down the shady street to the bank where he retained an office. There he sat for several hours, greeting friends, reading papers, dictating letters and reminiscing.

One business district of Danville, Illinois, around the home, which once had been in the outskirts of the city, but it remained his fortress and he resisted its abandonment in favor of a new home farther out.

In his study lined with portraits of the former speaker and with autographed photographs of famous friends, he sat daily to peruse his stenographer. As his strength ebbed, he found increasing pleasure in listening to the radio and every day he read from his Bible.

He smoked less in his later years but insisted that he never had smoked as much as the public intimated from his cartoons. He always smoked mild cigars, he said.

In the latter months of his life he remarked that he could not speak or think connectedly for very long, and recalled that he never was a consistent smoker, but that his oratory was made up rather of firebrands. He seldom attempted after his retirement to grant interviews, or to make a public appearance of any sort.

"Uncle Joe" was then a veteran and in the heyday of his power. Around him gathered a host of tales some true, some false, but all picturesque, and through the news columns and cartoons, his personality had been stamped indelibly on the minds of men all over the land.

LEADING CITIZEN OF BARRY DIED AT HOME THERE FRIDAY

Barry, Texas, Nov. 12.—On Friday night, Nov. 12, at 8:05 o'clock, Barry lost one of its most influential citizens, C. C. Thomas, druggist, school trustee, and member of the Christian church. He died at his home in Barry.

He had only lived with us about one and a half years, yet in that short time, he had made many lasting friends who join with the bereaved family in loss to mourn.

Besides his wife and five daughters, Lois, Ballard, Erin, Guyline and Mary, there were at his bedside when he passed away three brothers, Ear and Gordon of Cleburne, and Roscoe of Stamford; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nevill, cousins; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bandy of Cleburne, and Mrs. Wm. Whitte of Temple, sisters of Mrs. Thomas, also Mr. and Mrs. Frank McPherson of Corsicana, cousins of Mrs. Thomas.

As a man, Mr. Thomas stood among the first, as a citizen, he was always for the pure and upright, as a neighbor he was ever thoughtful and considerate, as a member of the school board he was always ready to co-operate with other members and the faculty for the best interests and advancement of the school. As a church member he was found at his post of duty as a leader in Sunday school and church work in general, and as a husband he was one of the kindest and best, always self-sacrificing and devoted to his home and family.

As a friend and neighbor we will miss him, yet not to be compared with the way he will be missed in the home. To them we can only say, lean thou on Jesus, who is our only comfort in hours like these, who has promised to be a "Father to the fatherless" and whose spirit ever hovereth night time to comfort, cheer and protect thee.

Our sincere sympathy goes out to you in this, the saddest time in your lives, and we want to assure you that we as neighbors are ready to assist you in any way possible at any time.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR STATESMAN TO BE HELD TUESDAY

TRIBUTES POUR IN FOLLOW-ING DEATH OF "UNCLE"
JOE CANNON

By Associated Press.
Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—In an ivy covered church, where his wife planted the sprigs that in the years have grown into a massive bower of foliage, will be held final rites for "Uncle Joe" Cannon, whose eventual life of 90 years ended in peaceful sleep yesterday. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon but the exact hour has not been set.

The funeral services will be brief and marked by simplicity. "Commanders of the American Legion Post here will be pallbearers. The body will lie in state from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Sunday.

By Associated Press.
Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, the Nation's oldest statesman, who first ran for public office the year Lincoln was elected, to the presidency, has found the rest he sought when he retired from public life three years ago and "came home to die."

Funeral services for the patriarch, who entered the long sleep at noon yesterday, in the brown brick mansion from which he went to Congress fifty-three years ago, probably will be held next Tuesday, with burial in Springfield cemetery, in the Vermilion hills, beneath a modest monument which he choose and had erected on the family lot. Definite arrangements will be made today with the arrival of relatives.

Funeral services for the dead statesman poured in today from friends and former foes who recalled the vivid days when Cannon ruled the National House of Representatives with an iron hand.

"The nation has lost one of its most able, interesting and beloved men of the last generation," President Coolidge said in a message. "He will always rank as a great American. His great influence gave his country a better government."

While his political career dated back to the days of the "Great Emancipator," "Uncle Joe" had other traits in common with Lincoln. His features often were said to be of the Lincoln type. From ears to chin he wore a fringe of close cropped beard, the upper lip clear shaved.

Also there had been no man in public life, Lincoln excepted, around whose life grew up such a lore of tales. Certainly there has never been a man so lampooned in caricature and called "Kid."

But while Cannon's term of service in Congress stretched over nearly a half century and was the longest on record, there was one man who called him "Kid." He is General J. Warren Keifer, 90, of Springfield, Ohio, a former Speaker of the House, who served with Uncle Joe for years in Congress.

"I always called Joe the 'Kid,'" explained General Keifer. "For see he was 90 years old last May and I will be 90 years old on January 30. He always enjoyed that little joke and often in his letters he would sign himself just that way."

The last three years in Danville he had been one of quiet and ever decreasing activities among the scenes Uncle Joe knew and loved. At first he walked daily to the Second National Bank, the institution he helped found, but as the weight of years wore on, these trips by foot were abandoned for automobile rides until a few weeks ago, when he was confined indoors.

Several days and his physicians saw the end approaching. But before going—and when he knew he was going—he tried to cheer those about his bedside.

"Have courage," were his last words. For many hours thereafter he was inarticulate, and the last summons came when he was peacefully sleeping.

By Associated Press.
Danville, Ills., Nov. 13.—Vice President C. G. Dawes' will officially represent President Coolidge at the funeral of Uncle Joe Cannon on Tuesday. A telegram was received from Mr. Dawes today saying he would be present.

FIVE MASKED MEN SECURE LARGE SUM FROM INDIANA BANK

BANK EMPLOYEES AND CUSTOMERS FORCED TO LIE ON FLOOR BY ROBBERS

By The Associated Press.
La Porte, Ind., Nov. 12.—The Peoples Trust and Savings Bank, of La Porte was held up and robbed today by five armed men who escaped with $140,000, of which $40,000 was cash and the remainder securities.

Apparently with intent to intimidate, one robber fired a sawed-off shot gun as the five entered the bank. The charge embedded itself in the ceiling.

The other four men drew revolvers, lined up five customers waiting at the cages and took charge of the institution. The robbers cleared the tellers' tills of about $40,000 in currency, and then forced cashier Harry Keller to open the vault and there about $100,000 chiefly in negotiable paper and securities was seized.

About a dozen persons, including employees were in the bank. All were forced to lie on the floor while two robbers stood guard over them.

George McClane, president of the bank, was forced to lie down with the others as was a woman who entered while the robbers were at work.

(Bob) McMullen, aged 81, Confederate veteran and prominent churchman, pioneer resident of Navarro county, who died at his home in the Chatfield community about 11 o'clock Friday morning, were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in the Chatfield cemetery. Squire McMullen, as his legion of friends and acquaintances called him, was born in Georgia and came to Navarro county in 1870, settling in the Chatfield community. He has been identified with the Methodist church since early manhood and was one of the leading figures in Methodism in this section of the country. He has been a steward in the Methodist church for more than a half century and a superintendent of the Sunday school for almost the same period. His friends and acquaintances denote him as a "good and great man," and his death, "a blow to his community and Navarro county."

A number of his Confederate brothers planned to attend the funeral services. He was a member of Camp Winkler, United Confederate Veterans.

Two sons and five daughters survive. Sons—M. J. McMullen, Corsicana; Carl McMullen, Chatfield; daughters—Mrs. Gordon Elkins, Richland; Mrs. William Tharp, Chatfield; Mrs. Bertha Hoffman, Corsicana; Mrs. Will Wright, Corsicana; Mrs. Mary Holsey, Chatfield.

DR. C. C. SELEGMAN PREACHED SUNDAY FIRST METHODIST

BIG CONGREGATION HEARD PRESIDENT OF SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

"The Nature and Mission of the Church" was the subject which Dr. Charles C. Selegman, president of Southern Methodist University, used for his discourse to the membership of the First Methodist church Sunday morning. The large auditorium was packed to hear Dr. Selegman's sermon on the last Sunday of the conference year.

As a preface to his sermon, Dr. Selegman complimented the church on the record made during the past year in carrying out a $100,000 building program and at the same time carrying a $20,000 church budget. He pointed out that it was a record few churches could boast and that the new educational building would mark the beginning of a new era in the power and influence of the congregation.

Taking as his text a verse from Psalms 50, "Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God hath shined," the speaker pointed out that the church, although the medium of the light of heaven, is being severely criticized by many groups at this time and that these criticisms practically offset each other. The church has been censured for mis-credulity by one group; another charges that the church has devoted too much attention to drives for funds.

"Others charge that the church does not stand for anything, does not effect the lives of its members, in spite of all the church's activities, its influence is not felt in civic, economic, social or political circles. Opposed to this is a group that charges that the church has forgotten its purpose and is meddling in secular affairs too frequently, and that it has become a political organization.

Formality of Worship.
"The formality of worship has also been prominent in the discussions. Some declare that there is too much formality, that all attention is devoted to form, and little to a spirit of worship. Others take the stand there is too much freedom in worship and that more attention should be paid to the old established forms of worship.

"Notwithstanding all of the criticism, the church is preaching the gospel to more people, in more churches, and more towns than at any time since Jesus Christ was nailed on Calvary. Not only is the gospel being preached but more attention is being paid to missions and other forms of social welfare, orphanages, education, hospitals, work than ever before, and more people are progressing toward God.

"What does the church mean in the world today?
"The church in the world today is the same as salt is in the curing of meats, the world's greatest preservative. It affects everything from our code of ethics to real estate values. The church is the mother and nurturer of all reforms and philanthropies. It is possible that there has been too much attention paid to reform. But the church works its reforms for the most part through the change of individual ideals. What is this that Jesus, the carpenter's son, has built? Orphanages, homes for the aged, hospitals. Without the influence of the church, public benevolences would not reach many.

Youths Becoming Thieves.
"The church builds sentiment for law enforcement. I would like to say this special word to the fathers, editors, and officers of the law. Something is wrong when so many of our youth are becoming thieves. There must be a lack of teaching and training in the home about things of honesty, truthfulness and law enforcement.

"The church fosters education where the church has gone, particularly Protestant faith, education has followed. The power of the church in this cause is brilliantly painted in a comparison of the two sides of the Rio Grande. One side, blessed with education has wealth, health and happiness. The other, steeped in ignorance, is the possessor of want, poverty, disease, immorality and helplessness.

"The church today is the safest place in civilization for boy, girl, man or woman. Need we ask if the church is worth while, if it is worth all that it costs?"

MOSLAH TEMPLE TO STAGE CEREMONIAL NEXT SATURDAY

FALL AFFAIR TO BE STAGED IN FORT WORTH WITH MANY NOVICES

Special to the Sun:
Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 15.—Final arrangements for the holding of Moslah Temple's fall ceremonial have been perfected according to announcement of J. O. McIntire, pontifex, the date being November 20 when it is expected there will be a class of over 100 novices to cross the hot sands which have been planned for the initiation.

Jack Varbrough, sheriff, Sweetwater, Eugene M. Dice, Cross Plains; E. V. Fugatt, Abilene and E. A. Ungren, Putnam are the novices in the class who have announced their candidacy for the diamond ring which is awarded to the most popular novice in each class at Moslah Temple ceremonials.

The ceremonials will be held at the Mosque on the scenic shores of Lake Worth, which is ideally situated for the holding of a ceremonial.

Special stunts are being arranged by William Southwell, director of work, and in addition there will be a three ring circus stunt for the Nobility which will be a scream.

Novices will be registered during the forenoon, November 20, and the street parade will be held during the noon hour, after which the scene of activities will be transferred to the Mosque where the traditional banquet will be served.

Immediately following the banquet there will be a band concert by Moslah Temple band and the ring candidates will have ample opportunity to canvas the Nobility for support in their respective races.

The opening of the Temple will be at 2:45 o'clock, which will be followed by the third section after which will follow the second section and bring the ceremonial proper to a close with the exception of the informal dance which will be held at 8:30 o'clock. There will likewise be an informal dance held the morning of the ceremonial at the Texas Hotel from 10 until noon.

Visiting ladies will be registered at the Texas Hotel during the morning by the Ladies reception committee and will be the guests of Moslah Temple during the afternoon.

It is expected there will be several other novices who will file their names with the ring committee in charge of Roscoe Carrilke between now and November 20, when the time for filing will come to a close.

A. W. Sargent of Baird has advised that a whole bus load will attend the ceremonial from there and use the bus during the day of their stay in Fort Worth. He also advises they will likely have a ring candidate.

Don't Gamble When You Buy Your Used Car

The used car you buy represents so many unused miles of transportation. The price should be in proportion to this unused mileage which remains in the car.

Whether or not you get the unused mileage you pay for, depends upon which car you buy and where you buy it.

The Ford has more mileage built into it per dollar of cost than any other car. A used Ford therefore has more unused mileage remaining in it than any other car that has been used to the same extent. Consequently it is the best used car you can buy.

Being authorized Ford dealers we are experts on Ford cars and can give you a better used Ford for your money than any "free lance" dealer who handles any and every make of car.

We know every nut and bolt in the Ford; we know exactly the real condition of every used Ford we take in and what it needs to put it in good running order.

We don't allow extravagant trade-in prices. We pay what the car is worth and sell it to you for that price plus the cost of renewing it. All work is done by our regular mechanics, with special Ford equipment and using only genuine Ford parts.

We have no interest in giving you anything but the biggest value possible because we want you to come back for your next car and we know that the only way we can bring you back is by giving you a full dollar's worth for every dollar you pay.

We have some very good used Fords at attractive prices on display now. Come in and see them and try them out if you want to. No obligation to buy.

FEAR EXPECTED TO SEAL LIPS OF AGED NEGRO WITNESS

EFFORTS BEING MADE TO FIND THREE OTHER MEN IN BURNING CASE

By Associated Press.
Houston, Texas, Nov. 15.—Fear is handicapping the state and sealing the lips of an eye witness who might identify the participants of the raid last Wednesday night on the Bassett Blakely ranch which resulted in the death of three negroes, officers declared Monday.

Somewhere in the "bottoms land" around Clodine and Gaston station is Frazier Holmes, 90-year-old slave time "darker" who was the only occupant of the cottage to be allowed freedom by the white men who fired the place. Holmes walked out of the cottage into the circle of men lighted by the blaze. He may have seen them well enough to know them, officers say.

But officials of Fort Bend county in charge of the investigation predict that the old negro will never take the witness stand and point the finger of guilt against his white neighbors.

Fort Bend county authorities were continuing their investigation of the affair Monday and were looking for three white men, who Sheriff Hagen declares, took part in the firing of the cottage.

"I do not know their identity, but we may get other developments or clues at any time," he said.

Meanwhile, preparations are being made for preliminary hearings at Richmond next Saturday for five men charged with murder in connection with the case. Those men are W. H. Holden of Houston, H. B. Crowder, Jr., John Crowder, Joe Rose and Buster Roberts of Katy. The latter named is the son of Clem Roberts, deputy sheriff at Katy for more than fifteen years, who took his own son to the court house at Richmond to answer to the murder charge.

The state admits that its case against these men is mostly circumstantial.

MEX GOVERNMENT ENEMIES ACTIVE FOR OVERTHROW CALLES

It had been slain and that a detachment of Federal troops under command of Major Jose Florenzano, chief of General Lopez's staff, was close on the trail of the two others.

Revolution Under Way.
Information given by General Lopez during the week end was interpreted in Mexican circles of El Paso as one of the first admissions by the military of the Southern Republic that efforts to foment a revolution had actually gotten under way. General Fernandez is described as having been a follower of Adolfo De La Huerta, frequently mentioned during the past two or three years in connection with revolutionary movements.

Much interest also was evidenced as to the identity of a prisoner held by Federal troops and from whom Lopez was quoted as saying he had obtained valuable information concerning revolutionary activities and plots. The Juarez commander declined to reveal the identity of the man held, saying that he wished to keep his name from De La Huerta.

Ammunition Seized.
The man held is the third suspect that has fallen into the hands of the government during the past few days. Two men captured at different times and places last week were slain and placed in a cage according to the government commander. Guns, ammunition and facts pertaining to revolutionary plots were seized in connection with the arrest of both, Lopez asserted.

So far as known at present rebel activities center along the Texas-Mexican border and in the interior of Mexico. More than 20,000 rounds of rifle ammunition was found in an automobile at Laredo last week. News dispatches from California and Arizona last night said there were perceptible revolutionary movements from those states.

WAGGING TONGUES HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR DEATH OF SIX

BAPTIST PASTOR KILLS WIFE, FOUR CHILDREN AND THEN SUICIDES

By Associated Press.
South Torrington, Wyo., Nov. 15.—Wagging tongues and domestic difficulties are believed by officers to be responsible for the act of Rev. J. B. Minort, 45, pastor of the Baptist church here yesterday in slaying his wife and four children and then ending his own life.

The bodies of the six were found scattered about the home. Mrs. Minort apparently had been shot and killed with a shot gun as she was in bed. Three of the children were slain in bed with a revolver. The body of a fourth, Hubert, was found on the floor of his mother's bed room.

The minister then went into the kitchen and committed suicide. Discussion by townfolk of alleged acts of misconduct by the minister, who was characterized by neighbors as being "highly sensitive," led to domestic troubles that officers believe was the motive for his act.

John Minort, sole surviving member of the family, is en route from Liberty, Mo., where he is a student at William Jewell College.

Served Prison Term.
Minort formerly served seven years in the Missouri State Prison, beginning in 1904, for second degree murder in connection with the slaying at Riverton, Mo., of an aged minister whose head had been cut open with an axe.

In prison Minort began to study the Bible. Upon his release he began to preach. He was a strong advocate of labor reform and won many followers in Wyoming. The late Governor W. B. Ross, husband of the present governor, appointed Minort state humane officer July 22, 1924. He was forced to resign November 18, 1924, when Mann act charges were filed against him in connection with a trip to Scotts Bluff, Neb.

After he had slain his wife, Minort sat down and wrote for nearly half an hour explaining why he had done so. His wife had told him, he wrote, that if he got into another affair such as the one at Scotts Bluff she could not stand the mortification and would kill herself.

He killed his wife, he wrote, so her blood would not be on her own hands. Minort asked that he and his family be buried in a single grave without a casket and that his furniture and his car sold to help his remaining son, John, complete his theological course.

SLAYER OF TEMPLE CHIEF OF POLICE IS RELEASED ON BOND

WILL NOT DISCUSS KILLING OR WHERE HE HAD BEEN HIDING

By Associated Press.
Belton, Texas, Nov. 15.—Albert W. Bonds, former sheriff, under murder indictment charging the fatal shooting of Chief of Police Wiley Fisher of Temple, who was released under $10,000 bond here Sunday by District Judge Lewis H. Jones, spent Sunday night at home with his family and was meeting his friends there this morning.

In a statement to the press he said that he would not discuss his case nor would he say anything about where he had been in hiding. He said he surrendered late Saturday night to Frank Hamer at Austin and spent the night with Hamer, coming to Belton Sunday morning.

"I surrendered as soon as I felt that it was safe to do so," he said. "My future plans depend on advice of my attorneys and largely will hinge upon the getting of my case."

EFFORTS OBTAIN LEAHY JURYMEN ARE RESUMED TODAY

MAN CHARGED WITH SLAYING
MATHIS PHYSICIAN ON TRIAL

By Associated Press.
George West, Texas, Nov. 15.—Efforts to obtain a jury to try Harry W. Leahy, on charges of murder in connection with the death of Dr. J. A. Ramsey last May, were resumed here today with only one jurymen in the box, as the result of a week's work, and prospects that a second venire will be necessary before the jury can be selected.

Defense counsel was apparently disqualifying as many men as possible for cause. Each venireman was questioned at length, the examination, which ordinarily takes ten minutes, sometimes covering an hour.

In the event the special venire is exhausted a second venire of 100 men, drawn for petit jury service, is immediately available and the sheriff believes that 200 more veniremen could be found in the county if necessary.

SIX OPERATIONS UNDER WAY IN THIS AREA AT PRESENT

SUN COMPANY HAS THREE WELLS GOING OR PREPARING TO RIG UP

With six wells now in operation, one rigging up and another preparing to build a derrick, all near Corsicana, it seems that the lost oil pool of the East Central Texas district is likely to be found in the near future.

The Sun Oil Company has three chances to locate the pool on the Swink farm. Casing was set and cemented on the H. A. Swink deep well test at Richmond at 2,842 feet Sunday. This well will be drilled 5,000 feet, or to what is known as the Trinity sand. The Sun Company is rigging up on the Ernest Swink No. 2-H lease, forty-eight acre tract, 300 feet well and the Swink No. 1 and will spend in Tuesday or Wednesday, it was stated. This company was reported by reliable sources to be moving in on the Swink-Wilson twelve acre tract and will deepen a gas well for a deeper test. The Swink No. 2-A, which came over a week ago is said to be gauging 335 barrels of pure pipe line oil a day.

Fred Haynes of Dallas is reported to be preparing to build a derrick on the Purfoy tract across the Trinity river. This is in a new territory and is a new survey.

The Clayton operation on the Thornton farm was said to be still in the chalk at 2,820 feet Sunday. This well is located south of Corsicana towards Mexico.

Chalk was struck on the Wood Stanley well, Edens No. 1 at 1,915 feet and was drifting around the 2,100 foot depth Monday afternoon, it was learned Monday.

The Hardy well No. 7 has been put on the pump and was stated by the G. C. Kent Company to be the best producer of the seven wells in operation by this company on the Hardy farm. The amount produced was not learned. It was announced that Mr. Kent was making preparation to locate the Hardy No. 8.

MORE COMMENDATORY CRITICISM GREETING SPEECH THAN ADVERSE

By The Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Mixed feelings in which approval seemed to predominate were expressed today in Senatorial comment upon President Coolidge's declaration yesterday at Kansas City, that there would be little prospect of American adherence to World Court unless the nations now members accepted the Senate reservations.

"Mildly good so far as it goes," said Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, who led the group of eighteen Senators in vigorous opposition to American adherence, even with reservations, but Senator Bruce, Democrat of Maryland, staunch supporter of the Court with safeguarding reservations, declared that "the World Court will survive this valiant effort."

"Fortunately for the country, the President remains a sterling American," said Senator Moses, Republican, of New Hampshire, member of the foreign relations committee. "And no better occasion could have been found for the concluding declaration of the President's address than Armistice Day, which marked the culmination of American participation in foreign affairs."

Index for Entire Nation.

"The President's speech sets the index for the American attitude toward world events and I go with him in declaring that the deliberate action of the Senate in ratifying the protocol of the so-called World Court, marks the limit of American entanglements in old world politics."

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who helped phrase the reservations and was a leader in the Senate fight for ratification, said "the President's speech accurately expresses the attitude of the Senate." Senator Swanson, Democrat, of Virginia, whose name is borne by the reservations which aroused world wide discussion and disunion on the part of some member nations to accept them, took credit for the same attitude as Senator Walsh.

ADVERTISING SCHEME SOLD MERCHANTS OF GLEBURNE IS NIPPED

Gleburne, Texas, Nov. 13.—Charges were filed in county court yesterday against three men who were soliciting advertising from the local merchants that was to have been placed in a railroad magazine. They were charged with swindling.

The men "worked" the town thoroughly and suspicion was directed toward them when they could not answer questions intelligently about the publication they claimed to be working for. The sheriff's department held the men for awhile and it is said they returned part of the money that they had collected.

There being no complaints made against the trio they were allowed to leave the city. Afterwards the county attorney was notified that several other parties had been swindled and warrants were issued for their arrest.

Markets

Local Cotton Receipts.

Cotton Market Opens Steady.
By Associated Press.
New York, Nov. 15.—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points, active months showing no losses of 3 to 7 points after the call under Southern hedging, liquidation and local selling promoted by relatively easy late cables from Liverpool.

January eased off to 12.50 but there was buying of near-months by spot interests and the market steadied up to 4 points from the lowest before the end of the first hour.

The market was steadier after the initial selling orders had been absorbed. Continued buying of near-months by spot house brokers seemed to bring in a little covering in later months and active positions sold about 5 to 9 points net higher before the end of the morning. At midday, January was under the low level of the morning, and 12.57 at the close of last week.

The early afternoon market was steadier owing to continued demand from spot houses for near months and covering promoted by the apparent absence of selling orders from the South. January sold up to 12.55, or 8 points net higher, while December was relatively firm, advancing to 12.62 or 14 points above Saturday's closing quotations.

New Orleans Opens at Loss.

By Associated Press.
New Orleans, Nov. 15.—Cotton opened easy owing to lower cables than due and first trades showed losses of 5 to 9 points. Prices eased off further after the opening call on Bundles. December trading down to 12.45, January 12.57 and March to 12.63 or 9 to 12 points below Saturday's close. The general rally indicated by the map and the presence of a tropical disturbance near the Yucatan channel caused shorts to cover near the end of the first half hour and prices rallied 4 to 5 points.

The market improved during the morning on covering by local sellers which was helped by rainy weather and uncertainties attending the tropical disturbance south of the Yucatan channel. December trading up to 12.58, January to 12.64 and March to 12.77, or 9 to 10 points up from the low, and 2 points down to one up compared with Saturday's close. Toward noon the market was quiet with prices 3 to 4 points under the highs.

The market improved during the afternoon owing to short covering and scarcity of offering contracts. Prices for active months made new highs with December at 12.60, January at 12.65 and March at 12.79, around the middle of the afternoon the market was steady and at or near the highs.

Advances indicated that cutting of wheat in that district would show considerable damage by frost and drought. Stuck Prices Irregular.

By Associated Press.
New York, Nov. 15.—Mixed prices movements ushered in the new week in the stock market. Initial price changes, as a rule, were slight, with a point gain in Coca-Cola and a point loss in Baldwin among the early features. Copper pointed upward in further reflection of the recent statistical improvement in the industry.

Prices gathered strength as trading progressed with demand embracing a number of the steel, motor, equipment, chemical, copper and chain store issues. The upturn was accompanied by increased activity with professional traders apparently furnishing most of the buying power.

General Motors was quickly run up to 112 points but DuPont, which owns large General Motors holdings and is expected to distribute part of the recent extra cash dividend declared by the latter to its stockholders, was heavy.

OFFICER AND PHONE OPERATOR SHOT AND INSTANTLY KILLED

MAN EJECTED FROM DANCE RETURNS AND DOUBLE KILLING OCCURS

By Associated Press.

Big Lake, Tex., Nov. 13.—A gigantic man hunt was on through the Reagan county oil fields today for Billie Coats, aged 34, in connection with a double killing at a hotel dance at Best Friday midnight. Coats shot and killed Constable George Hayes, aged about 45 years, and Miss Alta Bean, aged 19, telephone operator, was killed a moment later when Coats's gun was discharged in his struggle with C. A. Jones, aged 35, who was wounded in the arm.

Resenting his ejection from a dance at the Santa Rita Hotel by Hayes and Jones, Coats returned to the dance floor and Hayes was shot in the back of the head. Jones rushed into a clinch with the slayer and was shot in the arm about the time Miss Bean fell dead with a bullet in her temple.

Coats found an open path through the huddled, panic-stricken dancers and bolted through the lobby door. It is believed to have escaped in an automobile.

Officers have a warrant for his arrest. He is a hammer man at a machine shop.

Shortly before the shooting, Constable Hayes had struck Coats over the head with a pistol in his efforts to eject him from the dance, those present said.

Coats was bloody when he returned. It was said after the shooting that he had fired two shots into the prostrate body.

Complaint was made, County Attorney K. A. Moore said about 11 o'clock last night that the mechanic was "cutting up" and Hayes was summoned. Moore said Hayes was forced to bring his pistol into play before Coats could be put out, even when Jones, who volunteered help.

Hayes was a 200 pound man well over six feet tall. For a number of years he was foreman of the J. D. Suggs Ranch in this section.

Coats is about 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs about 135 pounds. He has black hair and a swarthy complexion.

A warrant naming Coats was sworn out by Justice of the Peace J. R. Hurt, and given to Sheriff Wethered who mustered every available deputy and telephoned other towns, and set out after the wanted man.

Jones, the injured man, is a rig "boss" for the Texon Oil Company. Miss Bean was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Bean of Rankin.

Hayes is survived by his widow and a son, Ray Hayes, residing at Best.

The bodies of the two victims were taken to San Angelo. No funeral arrangements had been made Saturday.

Later reports of the tragedy said the shooting stampeded the dancers and that many of them jumped from windows.

MEXICAN ADMITS SLAYING SECTION FOREMAN THURSDAY

ALSO WOUNDED MEMBER OF POSSE ATTEMPTING TO ARREST HIM

By Associated Press.

Amarillo, Texas, Nov. 13.—Raul Morales, Mexican arrested in Maude today for the slaying of J. E. Newberry at Goodnight Thursday night and the probably fatal wounding of Virgil Hundley, special sheriff's deputy at Claude early today, was spirited out of Amarillo this afternoon to a neighboring town, after police had rushed him to Amarillo from Claude. Police, fearing mob violence, refused to divulge the place where the Mexican was taken.

By Associated Press.
Amarillo, Texas, Nov. 13. Captured in Claude, Texas, this morning by members of the Amarillo police department, Paul Morales, Mexican, was rushed and placed in the city jail. He has confessed, police say, to slaying J. E. Newberry, section foreman on the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad at Goodnight Thursday and wounding a member of the posse which pursued him.

Morales shot and perhaps fatally wounded Virgil Hundley, mechanic of Claude, Texas, who, with a companion, had left the posse last night and started a hunt of their own for the Mexican. The two men encountered Morales on a lonely road about 4 a. m. today, and invited him to ride into town. The Mexican declined, and Hundley got out of the car to question the man. As he stepped into the head lights of the car, gun in hand, a shot rang out. Both men fired several times, Hundley being wounded by three bullets. He is in a serious condition.

Feeling is intense in Claude and Goodnight, and a heavy guard has been placed about the jail here to discourage mob violence.

Newberry was shot by the Mexican as he was carrying ashes from the section house to the dump near the Mexican laborers' quarters near

SON OF WHITE FARMER IS HELD IN CONNECTION DEATH THREE NEGROES ON RANCH

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 12.—H. B. Crowder, Jr., son of a Katy farmer, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of one negro and incineration of two others, Wednesday night on the Blakely ranch, 25 miles from Houston, probably will be given an examining trial next week before Justice of the Peace Charles Holmans at Richmond, it was announced Friday.

Crowder will not be allowed bond until after the preliminary hearing, according to County Attorney F. M. O. Fenn, who filed the complaint. The murder charge, he said, incorporates all three fatalities and not any one specifically.

Crowder surrendered to Sheriff R. A. Hagan at Richmond late Thursday after the story had become widespread of the burning of the ranch boss' cottage.

Crowder's Brother Killed.
Crowder said suspicion had been attached to him because Scott Evans, negro ranch boss, who was shot and killed, had employed Tanner Evans, another negro, now held in jail in connection with the killing of W. B. Crowder, of Katy, last Saturday night. Officers said that H. B. Crowder, in surrendering, denied any implication in the Blakely slayings.

While Crowder was being held in the Fort Bend county jail, officers of three counties were expected to make other arrests. Witnesses of the firing of the cottages said there were "six or eight young white men" in the raiding party. No new clues had been found Friday. The State's case rests at present on the finding of a gun rented from a Houston sporting goods firm, statement of the manager of that firm, the statement of Cleo Chatham, youthful section gang boss and Mexican members of the gang who saw the burning and the story of Frazier Holmes, a slave time drifter, and the only occupant of the cottage who escaped.

The "blatant" railroad station. There were eye witnesses to the first shot but Mrs. Newberry rushed to the section house door in time to see the Mexican fire two shots into the prostrate body of her husband.

The motive is not known, other than Morales says he was threatened by Newberry.

"Buy a cow" is the word that is being passed to the farmers of Navarro county by the Chamber of Commerce, the county agent, and the bankers in an effort to interest farmers in something that will be more profitable than cotton and to get enough cows in the county to make a creamery company self-supporting.

A cow program is being put on by the Chamber of Commerce and the county agent, assisted by B. H. Frick, president of the Frick Ice Cream Company, to assist farmers in supplying themselves with milk and to develop a butter fat market in Corsicana. Secretary Roy Christian of the Chamber of Commerce said this movement was not to work as a rival or competitor to dairies, but for the good of increasing Corsicana's industries and to help the farmer out of the hole they are now in.

Mr. Frick has received a letter from H. P. Olsen, president of three leading dairies on dairy products in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Part of the letter reads as follows:

"I hope you succeed in inducing your farmers to take up dairying in your locality. I am positive that dairying is their only salvation. Grow less cotton and do more diversified farming. Eventually they will be raising as much milk on thirty acres as they are now raising on one hundred acres and there will be no need to buy fertilizer, as the cows and hogs will furnish an abundance of it and the longer they farm the better the soil will become. I not that you are interested in thoroughbred stock. I am a booster for thoroughbreds for the foundation but don't overlook the fact that there is many a graded dairy cow that produces equally as much milk as a lot of thoroughbreds and on the same quality of feed. In fact it is the graded type of cow that produces the bulk of Wisconsin's milk that goes into butter and cheese as well as other products and not the milk from the thoroughbred cows. The latter milk is used to raise the calf and very little of that milk goes to the factories."

"My suggestion would be to induce the farmers to buy a good grade herd that will produce say 400 pounds of butter fat per cow and head them with a good thoroughbred sire. If they will do that they will be on the road to success."

Special to the Sun.
Kerens, Texas, Nov. 15.—Barclay and Meadows, were reported drilling satisfactorily at 700 feet on the deep oil test six and one-half miles northeast of Kerens on the McCluney and Howell farm on the Amanda Powell survey in Henderson county.

The test was spudded in the early part of the week, and has gone down steadily since the beginning. The test is in entirely unexplored territory, but is causing considerable comment among oil circles in Navarro county.

PLANS BEING LAID RAISE FUNDS LOCAL CAMP FIRE MOVEMENT

GIRLS OF CORSICANA TO COME INTO THEIR OWN AT LAST

The girls of Corsicana are to come into their own at last. Their very own organization is to be brought to them and they are to help to put it over. The men and women who are sponsoring the Camp Fire Girls' movement in Corsicana have decided to raise funds with which to carry on the work here and a campaign has been planned.

They plan to bring a Camp Fire worker here whose work will be to enlarge the membership, to further interest the public and more than anything else, to see that the program of Camp Fire functions among the girls. Under the same worker will come the Junior organization known as Blue Birds.

This will be the first time that any girls' organization has been established here. Its purpose will be to work out the program so that the girls will round out into more wholesome girls, better wives and mothers, and, therefore, better citizens. The program is simple and applies to all girls.

Every club and civic organization in the city is familiar with the program and has heartily endorsed it. This is expected to be the most popular campaign ever put over in this city. The community is responding to it as all communities do who have the welfare of their girls at heart. The appeal of Camp Fire is an appeal to the mind rather than to the heart. There is no neglected mother nor starving child, no helpless old age. There stands rather a sturdy specimen of American girlhood just beginning to wonder how and why.

Money spent now in holding before them ideals of right living, service to their home and church and community, good health and the right attitude toward their neighbor will result in the type of woman who shall help to place the world again on a sane right-thinking basis. Girls Today—Women Tomorrow. Where are They Going? Camp Fire Will Show Them the Way.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT C. P. CHURCH TO RUN SEVERAL DAYS

EVANGELIST LEAVES FOR HOME BUT PASTOR WILL DO PREACHING

Rev. F. A. Brown who has been conducting the revival meeting at the Cumberland Presbyterian church left for his home at Dawson after the service Sunday night. Rev. O. D. Spence, pastor of the church, assisted by Chas. H. McEwin, singer, will continue the revival for several days, the length of time had not been determined at the close of the service Sunday night.

Rev. Mr. Brown has recently been called to the pastorate of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Dawson. Prior to his call to Dawson the Rev. Mr. Brown was pastor of a church in Oklahoma.

All services Sunday were well attended and much interest shown. The attendance Sunday night was the largest during the revival.

The regular song service was conducted under the direction of Chas. H. McEwin.

"The Spirit of God hath made me and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life," was the scripture used as the basis of the sermon Sunday night.

"Life" was the subject used by the Rev. Mr. Brown who discussed different views taken of the subject. The theory of evolution was briefly discussed by the minister who declared that it did not have a firm foundation on which to stand. He declared that he preferred to believe that man was created in the image of God and that there was life beyond the grave.

All this was said in preface to the discussion of the subject "Life." In his discussion the Rev. Mr. Brown said that some people saw in life only the thing around them and thought that there were no definite plans for man but he declared that God has His own definite plans about the lives of men. At this point the minister discussed what he termed the real things in life and declared that this life was either a gateway to heaven or a porchway to hell.

Regular services were announced for Monday. The evening service will be at 7:15 and Rev. O. D. Spence, pastor, will do the preaching.

LIVE AT HOME IS ONLY REMEDY FOR FARM CONDITIONS

THIS IS OPINION OF SOUTH- ERN PACIFIC AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Out of all the maze of suggestions for the benefit of the Texas farmer, the simple policy of raising a living at home stands out as a simple and sane policy which has not been greatly improved on in the opinion of H. M. Madison of Houston, Agricultural Agent for the Southern Pacific lines, who was in Corsicana Monday morning.

Mr. Madison's territory until recently was in the San Antonio area and his visit here was in the nature of getting acquainted and checking agricultural conditions.

"I have no new theories to advance but simply wish to pledge my co-operation with the farmers and the Chamber of Commerce in working with them on any plans they have in mind," said Mr. Madison.

The visitor is a great believer in clover and other cover crops and pasture grasses. He pointed out in a discussion of the local milk cow program that the farmer owning a few cows can profitably give time to developing a small pasture acreage. "The average farmer can only make a real profit out of cows by raising his own feed and he should not neglect his pasture plot," he added.

Mr. Madison was greatly interested in the success which F. N. Drane, of the Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Committee, has had with various cover and pasture crops. He pointed out that such crops as these not only conserve the food qualities of the soil but that they can be produced with minimum amount of labor.

Mr. Madison has had a great deal of experience not only in farming for himself but in the colonization of farm lands in Southwestern Texas.

He made the observation that the foreign farmer frequently was more satisfactory with the drudgery crops in which he included cotton and that the American had better luck in the pride crops, such as orchards, pedigreed live stock and high grade chickens.

Mr. Madison in his many years in Texas, is intimately acquainted with the farmers problems in most parts of the State and he gave the concluding thought that the most successful members of the small farm class were those who had a few cows, hogs, chickens, other live stock and a garden.

FIVE YOUNG WHITE MEN ARRESTED IN CONNECTION DEATH OF THREE NEGROES

By The Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 15.—Five young white men, all alleged raiders, who shot and killed three negroes in Fort Bend county Wednesday night, were held in jail under murder charges here Saturday.

They are H. B. Crowder, Jr., John Crowder, "Buster" Roberts and Joe Rose, of Katy, and W. H. Holden of Houston.

"Buster" Roberts was arrested and taken to jail by his father, a deputy sheriff.

Deputy Sheriff Roberts also arrested Rose and John Crowder at Katy and took them to the Fort Bend county jail at Richmond. Holden was arrested in Houston Friday afternoon by Sheriff H. W. Collins of Fort Bend county and Deputy Sheriff Frank Neville of Harris county.

H. B. Crowder, Jr., faces three murder charges in connection with the night raid. He is charged before Justice of Peace Charles F. Holmes in separate complaints with the murders of Robert Brown, Sally Brown and Scott Evans. The complaint in which the negroes is named charges Crowder burned her to death.

Others Face Single Charge. John Crowder, Holden, Roberts and Rose each face one charge of murder. Preliminary hearings for all five have been set for November 20 before Justice Holmes at Richmond.

"I am innocent," declared Holden. "I can prove an alibi. I was on my automobile parking lot at 615 Caroline Street, Houston, at the time of the raid Wednesday night."

Holden said he saw H. B. Crowder, Jr., on the parking lot the evening of the raid but did not talk to him.

Officers Saturday said they had established the connection of Sally Brown with the case. She was, they said the woman over whom Wallace B. Crowder, brother of H. B. Crowder, Jr., was killed a week ago. Wallace Crowder quarreled with Sally and her husband at a dance given by Jim Burney, negro farmer near Katy. He was killed by Tanner Evans, negro tenant farmer on the Burney ranch.

Officers of Harris and Fort Bend counties are working on the theory that the triple murder in Fort Bend county grew out of the killing of Wallace B. Crowder, 29, who is a brother of H. B. Crowder, Jr.

Tanner Evans was held in the Harris county jail Saturday under murder charges in connection with the death of Wallace Crowder.

NO FURTHER DELAY IN ACTION ON WORLD COURT NOW EXPECTED

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT IS REGARDED AS REMOVING ALL DOUBT

By The Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 15.—Interest in the capital in the world court situation revived today as President Coolidge resumed his duties at the White House after a three-day trip to Kansas City during which he declared in his Armistice Day speech that the United States would join the tribunal on its own terms or remain outside.

In the face of considerable confusion and variance in the answers of the few member powers to the inquiry of the United States as to the acceptability of the Senate reservations to the protocol of adherence, President Coolidge was pictured as confident that his declaration in the West would lead to final and decisive steps soon toward the determination of the question of America's membership.

Removes All Doubt.

The President's statement was regarded as certain to remove any doubt as to the determination of the United States to take the court on its own terms or leave it alone.

The next week on the expectations of the President's advisers should see an end to the prolonged delay on the part of signatory powers in replying to Secretary Kellogg's inquiries of several months ago regarding the attitude on the reservations.

Acceptance of the reservations has been received in form of notes received at the State Department from Liberia, Cuba, Greece, Albania and Luxembourg. Santo Domingo replied that it would approve the reservations through its Geneva representative. Uruguay answered that the reservations are acceptable but required approval of the Uruguayan Legislature.

All Do Not Sign.

After having accepted the reservations, however, the representative of Greece, Albania and Luxembourg at the recent Geneva conference approved the resolution regarding the reservations which the United States has found unacceptable.

The Dominican representative also signed this resolution but reserved the right of his government to accept the reservations on their entirety if it desired. The Liberian and Uruguayan representative did not sign the resolution.

Signatory states which have neither accepted the reservations nor attend the Geneva conference are Abyssinia, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Haiti, Paraguay and Salvador.

MEXICO PREPARING - REPLY TO U. S. NOTE REGARDING POLICY

By The Associated Press.

Mexico City, Nov. 15.—Announcement was made by Foreign Minister Saenz today that a reply was being drawn up to the note of Frank B. Kellogg, American Secretary of State, respecting Mexican land and petroleum laws to which the United States objects. Senor Saenz said the date on which the note would be forwarded to Washington had not been fixed.

The Foreign Minister added that the new note of Mr. Kellogg embodies several new viewpoints of the American government, in addition to some already expressed in previous notes and that the Mexican government is being forced to reply with its usual argument upholding the Mexican constitution, against which the protests of the American note refer.

By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 15.—With Ambassador Sheffield at a guest at the White House today, the unusually deep cloak of silence with which the State Department officials surrounded the status of Mexican relations served only to accentuate the great significance they attach to the latest American note to Mexico City.

Although the communication was seen more than a week ago, the State Department has not yet admitted officially that it had gone forward, to say nothing of revealing what it contains. European reports that it embraces a virtual ultimatum in connection with the oil and land laws controversy appear, however, to be exaggerated.

Of Great Importance. There are indications that the communication is looked upon at the State Department as of more than the usual importance, from the utter silence of Secretary Kellogg and departmental officials, whether the latest communication differs only in language or embodies a new move in the prolonged argument.

Other conditions in Mexico involving Americans in addition to the disagreement over the land and oil laws, still are unsettled and some occurrences re-

DEPRESSION AND REDUCED PRICES CITED TO I. C. C.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 15th.—Depression and reduced prices now prevailing in the cotton market were cited to the Interstate Commerce Commission today by the Oklahoma Corporation Commission as a reason for revising and lowering rates on cotton moving out of that state.

In a formal complaint the Oklahoma commission declared that Texas and Arkansas producers had a more favorable rate situation than the Oklahoma producers, and asked for an early hearing on the rates question.

The state said the railroads had placed unreasonable rates on Oklahoma cotton moving to Texas ports, and that rates to the ports from Texas producing districts as compared with other rates were discriminatory.

Rates made from Arkansas to Texas ports were described also as so low as to constitute discrimination against Oklahoma.

TWO OPERATIONS IN NAVARRO COUNTY ARE DRILLING RAPIDLY

The Wood Stanley well on the Edens farm south of town was reported Saturday drilling at 1,841 feet. The well is being drilled by Robert R. Penn who, all men say, is making rapid time. The formation was said to be said and sticky shale.

The Texas Company, Cheney well No. 1, south of the Powell field has resumed drilling after fishing for over a week for a drill stem. The depth reached thus far is below the 2,650 foot level. It was stated at the Texas Company.

EYE OF INJURED PASSENGER ON CAR REMOVED SATURDAY

An operation was performed on W. L. Scott, Jr., at the Navarro County Hospital Saturday morning to remove his left eye after the pupil had been cut by flying glass when a buzzard flew against and broke a window in the front of an interurban Friday morning north of five coming from Dallas.

Hospital officials said Saturday morning they thought he would be able to leave the sanitarium within a few days.

NORTHERN CONCERN DESIRE LOCATE AIR SCHOOL CORSICANA

The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a letter from the president of a northern aircraft concern, asking if Corsicana would be interested in a modern air port and a school of aviation. The president asked that he was in a position to furnish his own planes and equipment.

The aircraft concern has been interested in locating somewhere in Texas for quite a while due to climatic conditions the year around and choose Corsicana because it is in direct route of the National Air Transport, Inc., from Dallas to Chicago, and will likely be an intermediate point when the line is extended to Houston.

Indications of growing interest in aviation in Corsicana is noted by the many inquiries made to the Chamber of Commerce concerning aviation.

INDIGESTION

North Carolina Lady Says She Had An Awful Time With Indigestion, Till She Took Black-Draught.

Pilot Mountain, N. C.—"For several years I suffered with a bad case of chronic indigestion," says Mrs. Sam C. Inman, of this place. "I had bad spells with my stomach. At times I had severe pains in my right side. My stomach would get upset and I would have an awful time. It seemed like everything I ate disagreed with me. I was in pretty bad shape."

"My husband had been using Theford's Black-Draught for some time for indigestion. He had spells of it too, so he suggested that I try Black-Draught. I took some from his box, just to see if it would help me, and I found it was the very thing for my trouble. It did me a great deal of good. My condition was brought on by a chronic case of constipation and, by getting relief from this, I found my general health was much better."

"We keep Black-Draught in the house all the time. Whenever I find I need it, I take several doses and thus avert a bad spell of indigestion. It is a splendid medicine and I am glad to say so."

BURGLARS BUSY CORSICANA FRIDAY NIGHT; LOSS SMALL

A burglar entered the home of H. W. Fagin, 643 West Fourth Avenue early Friday night while the family was absent from home for a short time and secured a suit of clothes, a hand bag and a small sum of money that had been left in the house. Mr. and Mrs. Fagin were absent only a short time between 7 and 8 o'clock. When they returned burned matches were found scattered over the floor and the articles above enumerated were missing.

Shortly after 8 o'clock an intruder entered the W. H. Hastings home at 701 West Seventh Avenue through a kitchen window but was frightened away before he had time to secure anything. Mr. and Mrs. Hastings had gone to hear Will Rogers, leaving the children at home with a maid. Shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Hastings had left the house footsteps were heard on the floor and the maid called to see if it was Mr. Hastings having returned home for something. No answer was received and the police department was notified. Immediate response was made but the intruder had fled before the officers arrived. Nothing was missing.
